NATIONAL CAPITAL IRISES

Surplus from the Private Collection of the Owner of Treholme Gardens

Through years, with the greatest care, I have been collecting irises as a hobby. While my collection does not contain all of the varieties introduced, yet in it will be found most of the good irises worth growing. It contains the best introductions from this and other countries. I am offering for the first time to the general public the surplus from this rare private collection. You will find the prices reasonable. They are not the highest—neither are they the lowest. I have made the prices such that I will send out nothing but the very best—big, strong, healthy rhizomes, even of the new, rare ones, without apology, guaranteed to reach you in good condition—or money back. In comparing prices, please remember all irises are sent to you prepaid.

APPRECIATING THE IRIS

If you will plant a few well chosen varieties of good irises, you will admire and appreciate their wonderful range of color, perfection of form, decorative uses, pleasing fragrance, and constant companionship through years to come. The decorative effect of the flower and foliage is widely known. Their use and value as cut flowers and for interior decoration is not fully recognized. The wide range of color, habit of growth and hardiness under varying conditions make them adaptable to a variety of landscape effects where planted in beds, masses, borders, and for the individual beauty and charm of specimen plants. Remember that when you buy an iris you have furnished that portion of your garden permanently.

SELECTING VARIETIES

It is as a rule best to select several roots of a variety rather than one root of each, whether the object be to produce specimen stalks or for the effect on the landscape. The effect is more pleasing when planted in clumps, each variety or group of varieties being kept separate and so arranged that the colors harmonize. Almost any color effect desired may be secured by careful selection. Varieties that will harmonize with most any other flower or surrounding may be secured. It is possible to secure satisfactory results for landscape purposes by selecting from the moderately priced varieties. If the best results are desired, it is well to keep in mind that as a rule the higher priced varieties are improvements over the cheaper ones in one or more respects. As a rule the height, size of bloom, color, form, substance, vigor and length of flowering period are among the points in which they usually excel.

In selecting irises, it is well to bear in mind that price alone is not a guide to the merits of a variety. While it is true that many of the best varieties are higher in price than other less desirable ones, many factors such as availability of stock, rapidity of increase, and difficulty of growth should enter into consideration of the price. New introductions are as a rule higher in price because the supply is limited. Good varieties that increase slowly, although on the market a long time, are usually high and will likely remain so because they are scarce. Some varieties produce beautiful flowers but are rather difficult to grow in that they require special care or treatment for best results. The limited supply and cost of producing such varieties usually results in a somewhat higher price. For those who aspire to accomplishing out-of-the-ordinary results, such varieties afford much pleasure and worthwhile reward.

Probably the best guide to the merits of a variety is the composite rating given by the American Iris Society which is an average of the ratings of the best authorities in different parts of the country. Since irises are usually observed singly or in a collection of a few stalks for exhibition at close range, or as garden clumps or mass effect on the landscape at a greater distance, and since the American Iris Society published the composite rating only, I have endeavored to evaluate them with both of these purposes in view, believing that it affords a more accurate comparison of the varieties.

DESCRIPTIONS AND RATING

I have given the descriptions of varieties as I have seen them grow in my own garden over a period of years or since their introduction. The color descriptions are based on Ridgeway's Color Standards, in so far as practicable, together with the general color effect in most cases, for ease of interpretation. The height in inches and season of bloom from very early (V. E.) to very late (V.L.) which follow my own ratings, are based on an average of seasons, locations, and soil types.

The name of the introducer with date of introduction, and awards at national or similar exhibitions are given following the name of the variety. The rating of the Symposium Committee of the American Iris Society is the figures which immediately follows the name of the variety. Since many varieties have not been rated, I am giving in addition my personal comparative estimation of the different varieties, both for exhibition (E.) and landscape or garden (G.) uses. These ratings are based upon experience of growing the different varieties side by side and a study of the different factors, including growth, effectiveness, poise, height, color, form, size, substance, and distinctive qualities, all of which go to make up a "perfect" iris for both exhibition and garden purposes. The ratings on the more recent introductions are subject to revision as further experience may bring out their faults, if any, or further demonstrate their superior qualities. I have hesitated to publish these ratings because personal likes and dislikes do enter into such considerations. I have endeavored, however, to deal frankly and accurately with the different varieties and having been urged to publish them hope the suggestions may be helpful, especially to those who may be interested in the new and untried introductions. The reader may ask why an old iris such as "Iris King" has been placed with the best and most outstanding varieties, while such fine varieties as "Hyperion" with a higher rating are excluded. The reason is that while Hyperion is a finer individual iris than Iris King in size, form, and height, there are some even better varieties of very similar coloring, while Iris King is still one of the best in its particular color and is, therefore, given the preference in this list. Undoubtedly, some of the newer varieties may demonstrate their superior qualities to such an extent that they may displace some that now seem to be among the best. I welcome suggestions and criticism on these points based upon the experience of others in different locations.

I am greatly interested in the new but only the very best introductions. I welcome correspondence concerning them and will be only too glad to consider either purchase or exchange for varieties of outstanding merit. I have a number of new seedlings of my own under observation. Some of them show promise of being worthwhile additions to the already long list of introductions.

If you desire a variety which you do not find listed, write me about it as I have more than 200 varieties in limited quantity which can be supplied upon request to those interested.

ORDERS

All plants are offered subject to being in stock and unsold on receipt of order. I have a good stock of most varieties but of a few the supply is limited. Prices are net for one plant and terms are cash, which should be sent with the order in all cases. Orders should be sent early, as there is an unusual demand for the best varieties. Orders will be filled in the order received. Write names plainly. Give shipping directions carefully. Shipments will be made during July unless otherwise arranged for. July is recommended for best results although the experienced grower should get equally good results from earlier or later planting. No order accepted for less than $2.00. All orders are carefully packed without extra charge and delivered free either by express or parcels post.

I do not make substitutions. I do not offer collections but will be glad to help you make selections and also plan your iris garden if requested to do so. Prices will be quoted on specimen plants, large orders or large quantities of one variety. Very attractive prices of named varieties but without labels in large quantities for landscape purposes will be provided upon request. Wholesale prices on certain varieties will be quoted to the trade only.

DISCOUNTS

Discounts allowed on orders for single plants, received before July 1st. amounting to:

$10.00 or over	5%
25.00 or over	10%
50.00 or over	15%
100.00 or over	20%

Except that a discount of 10% only, will be allowed on orders received after July 1st. and on varieties priced at $2.50 or over. The prices on these varieties are already as low as availability of stock will permit.

GUARANTEE

All plants are grown under my personal supervision. I personally make all selections and fill all orders. Most of the varieties have been secured direct from originator, insuring true stock. The greatest possible care is then exercised to keep all varieties labeled and true to name. All plants are guaranteed to reach you in good condition.

If not entirely satisfactory upon receipt of plants, I will cheerfully refund the purchase price, provided plants are returned at once. Please bear in mind that all varieties do not produce large rhizomes. All roots sent out will be average size or larger for the variety represented. Remember also that the flowers from plants the first year after division are not in the most cases as large or accurately colored, or the stalk so tall as in well established plants. Neither do they bloom so freely nor are they as sure to bloom as in well established clumps. Many varieties planted in early August will bloom satisfactorily the next season although normal results are rarely obtained until the second year after planting or division.

HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR IRISES

I will send you first class roots and want them to do well for you. If you are an experienced grower the suggestions I am offering will not be necessary. If you are not, the following are the essentials for success with the Bearded irises, which are among the easiest plants to grow. The species and varieties require somewhat different though not difficult treatment. The Bearded irises do well in any well drained soil, though a clay-loam is best. Do not plant in the shade, near large trees, tight board fences, or walls. Select a sunny, well-drained location where water does not stand. Plant in beds raised a few inches for good drainage. If the roots appear dry upon arrival, no concern need be felt as the iris is very draught-resistant. They should, however, be planted as soon as possible after arrival. Set plants with top of rhizomes at the surface. Press soil firmly about the roots. If the season is very dry, water not oftener than every two weeks until established. Keep soil well cultivated and free from weeds at all times. Other plants should not be allowed to crowd or cover them. Do not use fresh manure at time of planting or at any other time. Bone meal is the most satisfactory fertilizer—acid phosphate also may be used sparingly. Lime is beneficial to most varieties in most soils.

I would recommend that you lift, divide, and transplant about every fourth year, although some varieties which multiply very rapidly and become crowded will give better results if divided or at least thinned out more often. In transplanting retain only the young, healthy rhizomes. The top, or about one-half of the leaves, should be cut off to prevent excessive evaporation. If these simple instructions are followed, plants should do well and be a source of great pleasure as well as a healthful reaction. Irises are exceptionally free from disease and insect pests. Root rot is the most troublesome disease, usually being induced by poor drainage, lack of sunlight or accumulation of decaying vegetation about the plant. The best remedy is to remove these conditions by carefully following all instructions for planting and care and removing all old foliage in the spring. About the only insect that is of much concern in some location, especially where irises have been located for many years, is the iris borer. For detailed information as to its control as well as other valuable information, Farmers' Bulletin No. 1406, "Garden Iris," should be secured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. It is sent free upon request.

A most reliable source of information is the regular bulletins of the American Iris Society. Four numbers are supplied members each year. A large number of bulletins, treating most every phase of the subject are available upon request to the Secretary, J. B. Wallace, Jr., 129 Church Street, New Haven, Connecticut. No other special plant society offers its members a greater wealth of information and service.

LOCATION OF GARDEN

"Treholme Gardens" are located within sight of the National Capital—only 30 minutes ride. Visitors are always welcome—but by appointment only. The iris season usually lasts about two months. The Dwarf varieties usually start blooming about the middle of April. The Intermediate follow in about ten days. In a week or more the Fall Bearded and other varieties make a fine showing for about another month.

TALL BEARDED IRIS

(June Flowering)

This group may be said to be the most satisfactory and easily grown group of plants now in cultivation. They are unexcelled for brilliancy of color, very hardy and free flowering and excellent for cutting. They begin blooming in late May and bloom for six weeks most seasons.

ABBREVIATIONS

The very best and most outstanding varieties in every respect appear in bold face type. The others are standard varieties. Many of my favorites appear in this last group. See rating of varieties (p. 2-3) for further explanation.

Numerals after the name are the composite rating of the American Iris Society. The name in parentheses is the name of the originator in most every instance of the variety, but in a few cases it is the name of the introducer. The principal award at national or similar shows is indicated as follows: A.M.—Award of Merit; F.C.C.—First Class Certificate; R.H.S.—Royal Horticultural Society of England; H.M. Honorable Mention; H.C.—Highly Commended; C.—Commended; M.H.S.—Massachusetts Horticultural Society; A.I.S.—American Iris Society; S.N.H.F.—Société Nationale de Horticulture of France.

The E. and numerals which follow signify my own exhibition rating, and G. the garden rating of the variety.

The rating of the varieties may be interpreted as follows:

- 100—represents absolute perfection
- 95—closely approaching perfection
- 90—exceptionally fine
- 85—fine
- 80—very good
- 75—good
- 70—fairly good

Below 70 is an indication that the variety is either not outstanding or is worthless.

The other numerals represent the average height in inches, and the season of bloom is indicated from very early, V. E., to very late V. L.

S. signifies "standards," F. signifies "falls."

ABENDA (Perry 1923) E. 80 G. 85 42" E. S. large, incurved, dull old rose overlaid bronze; F. rich madder-crimson suffused soft bronze. Stout branching stems, medium sized flowers produced in great profusion, lasting long in bloom. An attractive iris..... $2.00

Similar to Crusader and Lady Foster in color. Stout branching stems, flowers of good form and substance..... 3.00
- ANNE BULLEN (Hort 1922) E. 89 G. 86 36" M. S. to L. S. very large bluish-lavender; F. velvety deep purple, heavy brown reticulations; full length bright orange beard. Resembles Majestic in color. A darker Eckesachs and smaller and more brilliant Mistress Ford. Distinct rich copper bi-color of fine shape. Tall, well branched of medium size and free flowering..... 3.50
- ANNE LESLIE 83 (Sturtevant 1918. H.M., M.H.S.) E. 83 G. 85 30" M. S. to L. S. white, tinted rose-pink; F. dahlia carmine. In a color class with Edouard Michel and Caprice. A good cut flower variety, small but a striking color combination. A beautifully colored Amoena which rivals Dalila being larger, although not so clear and bright..... .50
- ANTONIO (Hort 1921) E. 87 G. 88 40" E. A red-purple bicolor, almost a self. Similar to Col. Candelot but larger and darker. Also similar to Anne Bullen. A large flower of splendid shape and color..... 2.50
- APHRODITE (Dykes 1922) E. 93 G. 95 48" M. S. A large bright violet-pink self that for purity of tone, brightness of color and perfection of form has no equal. No veining, a prominent flush from center of blade to haft, lemon beard; very sweetly scented. Very vigorous, stems stout and well branched producing many well shaped flowers of unusual substance, lasting long in bloom. A distinct and beautiful iris..... 7.50
- ARAGON (Bliss 1921) E. 76 G. 80 24" M. S. to L. S. deep golden yellow; F. bright velvety red-brown, heavily reticulated on a pale yellow ground; beard deep orange..... 1.00

- ARAC (Yeld before 1911) E. 80 G. 85 42" M. S. to L. S. deep lavender-lilac; F. deeper shade; bright golden beard. Somewhat similar to Amas in form and color. On the order of Lord of June but smaller though of better substance. .... $1.00
- ARCHEVEQUE 83 (Vilmorin 1911. C.M., R.H.S., 1916) E. 82 G. 80 30" E. to M. S. S. rich deep purple-violet; F. flaring, velvety raisin purple tinged crimson; beard yellow, tipped brown. A medium sized flower of good form and an unusually rich color of the falls, which is much admired. Robert W. Wallace is similar and far superior in every way. .... .35
- ARGENTINA (Mohr 1923) E. 90 G. 88 38" E. to M. S. Pure white, veined gold-bronze at base of falls; bright orange beard. Similar but superior to Edith Cavel and Kashmir White. A vigorous, free flowering variety of medium size which is outstanding in form and clearness of color. .... 5.00
- ARGONAUT (Bliss 1920) E. 82 G. 85 30" M. S. A pale light lavender-violet self. Similar in color to Princess Beatrice but not so tall. Large flower, well branched and very free flowering, excellent for massing. .... .50
- ARGYNNIS (Longfield 1924. A.M., A.I.S., 1928) E. 85 G. 89 42" L. S. Strontian yellow, very delicately shaded analine yellow; F. velvety, dark violet-carmine paling at border; without markings of any kind. Medium sized flower carried gracefully on tall slender stalks. Vigorous and free flowering. Similar but superior to Prosper Laugier, Kathryn Fryer, and W. J. Fryer. One of the very best of the class. .... 1.00
- ARIADNE (Dykes 1921) E. 85 G. 86 40" M. S. S. broad, waved, clear silvery light blue; heavily veined brown; F. deeper shade, suffused reddish-brown; pale yellow beard. The dull color tone approaches the appealing tawny-ness of Asia with the shape of Queen Caterina. Similar in color to Shy-lock. Good form and substance and very free flowering. .... 2.50
- ARIEL (Murrell 1924) E. 87 G. 90 36" M. S. A clear bright harebell blue self; very sweetly scented. A tall erect grower, very free flowering. A unique and lovely shade being one of the best pale blues. .... 15.00

- ATHENE (Sturtevant 1920) E. 82 G. 86 36" M. S. A creamy white of fine form and substance. S. well arched; F. slightly waved, reticulated maroon at haft. Very free flowering. Competes with Balaruc, Fenella, and White Queen..... .50
- ATLAS 75 (Millet 1913) E. 75 G. 78 36" M. S. to L. S. clear violet blue; F. deep violet blue, veined black-purple; orange beard..... .35
- AUBURN (Bliss 1921) E. 88 G. 90 36" M. S. S. rose-purple, flushed hazel and ochre-red; F. warm crimson, slight purple tinge. The effect is a warm red bicolor, between Mt. Penn and Valery Mayet. A strong, vigorous grower very free flowering, with medium sized flowers of excellent form that are attractive and beautiful..... 15.00

- AURELLE (Denis 1924) E. 90 G. 87 36" M. S. to L. S. light purplish-blue; F. rich glowing crimson-purple; golden yellow beard. Shape of flower and habits of growth very much like Mme. Gaudichau from which it is a seedling, surpassing that variety in the luminous effect of fall. A richly colored iris of merit..... $2.50
- AURORA 74 (Yeld 1909) E. 83 G. 86 38" M. S. to L. A soft rosy-lilac self. Free flowering and vigorous. A Pallida of good form and color..... .50
- AUTOCRAT 79 (Cleveland 1920) E. 73 G. 76 36" E. to M. S. S. clear light blue; F. flaring, dark-blue, conspicuously veined haft. On the order of Cordelia but brighter..... 1.00
- AUTUMN KING (Sass 1924) E. 83 S. 87 32" E. A very large lavender, almost a self. Vigorous, free flowering and early, which also bloomed in the fall last year (October 5th). This is one of the few varieties which have bloomed in the fall..... 2.00
- AVALON 91 (Sturtevant 1918. Silver Medal M.H.S. 1916) E. 92 G. 87 42" M. S. to L. An unusual shade of light lavender-mauve. A tall growing well-branched variety. Vigorous although increases slowly. Very large flower of great beauty with excellent form, wonderful substance and color..... 5.00
- AVRIL 27 (Denis 1923) E. 85 G. 86 42" M. S. to L. S. violet-purple; F. bluish-purple, throat veined blue-purple on white. A strong, vigorous, free flowering bicolor, lighter but very close in color to Mme. Gaudichau, a little darker than Prospero..... 3.00
- AZRAEL (Morrison 1924) E. 89 G. 88 38" M. S. to L. S. ageratum violet; F. broad, flaring, petunia-violet. An unusually clear blue toned violet bicolor with good substance, remarkable form and carriage. An iris of merit..... 5.00
- AZULADO (Mohr 1924) E. 90 G. 87 36" M. S. Very pale lavender-blue, similar in color to Mother of Pearl and a little lighter than Ariadne and Shylock. The falls droop like Lohengrin. Very free flowering and a flower of good color and substance..... 5.00
- AZURE 82 (Bliss 1918) E. 80 G. 83 32" M. S. S. lavender-blue; F. broad, rich deep violet-blue, perfect in color tone. A vigorous, free flowering variety of medium size. Very desirable landscape variety because of the clear and intense coloring which resembles the Dominion race. Cavalier is superior except in clearness of color..... .35
- AZURE GLOW (Weed 1923) E. 80 G. 83 40" L. S. dull violet-blue; F. madder-violet. A tall, vigorous, free flowering variety on the order of Chester Hunt but taller and of a darker shade..... 1.00

- AZYIADE (Cayeux 1925) E. 90 G. 85 48" M. S. S. clear sky-blue; F. flaring, soft bluish-mauve. Very tall, and vigorous and one of the largest flowered varieties, of good form.....$15.00
- BALARUC (Denis 1922. A.M., R.H.S., 1920) E. 83 G. 87 33" M. S. S. and F. white, a few purple marks at the base of falls; pale golden beard. Similar to White Knight and Innocenza but much better shaped falls. Michaline Charriere is larger and taller on a better stalk. A medium sized, free flowering variety which produces a wonderful effect in the border over a long period..... 1.00

INTERMEDIATE IRISES

(Early May Flowering)

In the effort to have bloom in the garden throughout the year, May-flowering Irises should not be overlooked. During late seasons this group provides the only Memorial Day flower to be found in quantity. They are most useful and dependable, being of medium height and early to bloom. They are especially useful as borders for tulip beds. The intermediate varieties are taller than the Dwarfs, bloom ten days later and a week or more before the Tall Bearded varieties. They are, therefore, intermediate in size as well as in height and season of bloom.

DWARF IRISES

(April Flowering—Pumila)

The Dwarf varieties are being used in ornamental beds, either of a single coloring or with a harmonious combination of coloring. Their greatest usefulness, however, probably is as low-growing borders for other plants. They are especially used in rock gardens for which, on account of their ability to withstand droughts, they are well adapted. They also increase rapidly and soon fill their part to good advantage.

SIBERICA IRISES

Among the most elegant of all Irises and among the easiest to grow are the varieties of this group. They are among the best for cutting or for massing by the waterside. The flowers are various shades of blue, with white or pink markings and pure white. They succeed best in moist locations.

ENSATA (Of Russian origin) 52" M. S. An unusual shade of clear pale blue, very sweetly scented, freely produced on tall stalks with sword-like leaves of a beautiful shade of pale gray-green. Very desirable as a cut flower. One of the rarest forms.....	$2.50

MISCELLANEOUS IRISES

(Species and Varieties)

There are a great many species, sub-species and varieties of Irises. I have grown many of this group for a number of years. I have imported them from England and France a number of times. Some difficulty is encountered in getting some of these new varieties to establish themselves. I give them very similar treatment to the other groups, except where noted. They require somewhat different treatment as to season to dig, divide, reset, and ship, which information is given to those interested. This group contains many of my favorites.

BELLORIO (Mohr 1924. A.M., R.H.S. 1924) 32" M. S. (Korolkowi × Germanica) A soft blue-gray producing a distinct subdued color effect. A well branched, medium sized flower, blooming over a long period. One of the distinct new varieties because of its unusual shape and color.....	2.50
CARMELO (Mohr 1923; A.M., R.H.S. 1924) 32" M. S to L. (Korolkowi × Germanica) S. blue-violet; F. darker shade. Slender foliage and stems, long narrow flower of an unusual shade. Distinct and outstanding iris.	2.00

- DILKUSH 26" M. S. (Iberica  $\times$  Pallida) S. violet, with the richly netted veining of Iberica; F. reddish-purple with black throat blotch; broad yellow beard. A strong grower, with large, well rounded flowers that are beautiful..... \$3.00
- DORAK 71 (Foster 1909) 24" M. S. to L. (Iberica  $\times$  Cengialti). S. violet-blue; F. same shade, veined and shaded purple-violet; reticulated and spotted brown and black-brown, brown-yellow beard. A beautiful hybrid with large well rounded flowers of very striking appearance..... 2.50
- DOROTHEA K. WILLIAMSON (Williamson 1918) 30" L (Fulva  $\times$  Foliosa). Large velvety flowers of the most vivid purple; does best in slightly moist location. One of the very best of the beardless varieties, being very reliable and free flowering. A fine cut flower..... 1.00
- FOETIDISSIMA (The Gladwyn Iris. Species) 30" E. An unusual form, interesting for the silvery white variegation of the foliage for edging, a very sturdy grower. Very handsome for winter indoor decoration. Purple flowers followed by scarlet berried seedpods..... 2.50
